

Latha Venkatesh-Consulting Editor, CNBC TV18

Latha Venkatesh is currently a consulting editor with CNBC TV18.

Latha began her career at CNBC-TV18 as chief of the Mumbai News Bureau in 2001, and went on to be a prime-time anchor covering equity markets and specialising in the coverage of fixed income and currency markets and the banking sector.

Over the years, she has come to be recognised as one of the respected commentators on banking sector issues, money markets and macroeconomic trends.

She has been a business journalist for 30 years and has specialized in covering all markets - stocks, currency, debt and commodities.

She has also had stints in all major streams of media, having worked in the Economic Times and Dow Jones Newswires for five years each.

Latha graduated in Economics and Politics and has a doctoral degree in Political Science.